

Summit County Parade of Homes Awards Gala
Summit County, Colorado
September 18, 2009

Mountain Living was proud to sponsor this year's Summit County Parade of Homes, an annual showcase of 24 high-country homes located in beautiful Summit County, Colorado.

On Friday, September 18, 2009, more than 200 guests joined the Mountain Living staff at the Silverthorne Pavilion to celebrate the best architecture and design on display on this year's tour. Publisher Holly Scott had the honor of presenting numerous awards, including a first-ever Mountain Living Peak Award honoring the magazine's selection for best in show.

Peak Award winner
Grace Covington
of GC Luxury Homes

Mountain Living was pleased to present its first-ever Peak Award for the Baker House, a collaboration between GC Luxury Homes (www.gcluxehomes.com) and BHH Partners (www.bhhpartners.com). Adjacent to the slopes of Copper Mountain and pristine national forest land, the ski-in, ski-out home has an "urban alpine" style that blends organic architecture with contemporary mountain flair. The judges were impressed by the home's space plan, which features a blend of grand spaces and intimate spots, as well as its beautiful materials palette consisting of Ming Dynasty-era reclaimed Chinese elm floors, custom cherry cabinetry, rare onyx slabs and intricate tile work. Equally impressive is the design team's commitment to sustainable design and building practices. Eco-friendly features range from recycled building materials and a state-of-the-art insulation package to high-efficiency boilers and heaters and ENERGY STAR-rated appliances. Congratulations to the entire design team!

1. Heather Jarski of Mountain Comfort Furnishings (left) with Kodiak Enterprises' Dave Koons and Kim Fancher, of Kim Fancher Design. 2. Randy Barrientez of RJB Development (far left), Charles Messett of Vintage Builders (second from left) and Cabernet Construction's Tom Eble (far right) visit with a friend. 3. From left: Tom Harmon, Michael Langlois, Lynn Myers, ML's Holly Scott, Corrine Kelly, Kim Fancher, Jane Dvorak, Martha Netherton and Karen Wray. 4. ML's Katrina Nail visits with realtor Tom Harmon.